57 Dead, 56 Unknown.
At Least Russia Flies.
Have You Seen Mr. Burke?
Five Breaths a Minute.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

FIFTY-SEVEN men found dead in an Oklahoma coal mine. The world will never know their names, printed only in local papers. Only coal mine "hands," excepting one engineer, their going is a minor incident in industrial development.

However, the 57 deaths may cause sympathy for a moment, a feeling that men running such risks should be better paid and safety devices developed, in spite of costs.

JUST before the war, Northcliffe offered $50,000 for a flight across the English Channel, less than fifty miles.

On Tuesday, Cote, French flier, set a new record by flying more than 5,000 miles without stopping or taking on fuel.

GREAT progress in a few years, from 50 miles to 5,000. Who doubts that ten years hence flying across the Pacific, at any point, will be pilots' "child's play," and flying the Atlantic work for student fliers?

By that time this country will have to think seriously of hostile air visits from Europe or Japan. Even our greatest "statesmen" will get their minds off archaic battleships.

THE Russian marriage system is convenient, for those uncertain as to their own minds. You get a divorce in Russia almost as easily as you get a box of matches in America.

Britain dislikes this, and a British court refuses to recognize a Russian marriage.

OUR proud nation refuses to recognize anything that Russia does, except buying from us for cash. We detect revolution, although our government and titles to American real estate are based on it.

This Anglo-American haughtiness may not be wise.

The Russians are going ahead industrially and in other ways. They will be the world's greatest cash customers one day.

ALSO "All the World's Aircraft" reports that of all nations, Russia, in 1929, spent the largest percentage of its public moneys on aviation.

A nation that simultaneously develops aviation and industry is not one to be snubbed, safely.

VARIOUS cities want Fred Burke to ask him about murders. Mr. Burke is said to have taught gangsters to use machine guns, in place of old-fashioned, inefficient pistols.

One of those guns, "chopped," was found in his suddenly abandoned residence.

CHICAGO police believe that Burke directed the massacre of the seven Moran gangsters, mowed down as they stood side by side.

An expert will take bullets from the bodies of the Moran men, and see if they came from Burke's gun.

Six hundred years ago, Burke might have been a great condottiere, renting himself out to rival armies, with great artists making statues of him, another Colosseum.

HOW many times do you breathe, in one minute. Guess, off hand.

Many that know about the revolutions of an airplane propeller, or a steamship screw, take little interest in their own machinery.

THE breathing question is suggested by the case of Miss Margaret McIntyre, Plainfield, N. J. school teacher, who breathes only five times a minute, twelve seconds a breath. Scientists call her a "physiological miracle." You probably breathe 15 to 18 times per minute, the average for adults.

SALEM LOSES EPIDEMIC SUIT

F. J. Harding Wins New Trial for Damages.

By International News Service. COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 20.—For the second time within the last three months, the Ohio supreme court today refused to hear the appeal of the city of Salem from the decision of the Columbus county appellate court, which held the city of Salem responsible for a typhoid fever epidemic there several years ago.

The decision, in effect, granted a new trial to F. J. Harding, Salem resident, who had sued the city for damages because of the illness of two of his daughters. The common pleas court favored the city of Salem in its verdict.

Harding carried the case to the court of appeals and that body reversed the decision of the lower court.

The city of Salem then entered the supreme court and the supreme court, on October 23, confirmed the decision of the appellate court. The decision today refused to grant a rehearing of the case and in substance gave Harding a new trial in the common pleas court.

The Harding suit was regarded as a "test" case.

Ohioans Want Chicago-to-Gulf Plan Kept Out of Rivers and Harbors Bill.

By International News Service. WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—A fight will be made to prevent inclusion of any part of the Chicago-to-the-Gulf waterways plan in the forthcoming rivers and harbors bill. Representative W. W. Chalmers (R) of Ohio, declared today in a letter to Secretary of War Hurley.

Chalmers asserted the federal government could wait a year before beginning work on the channel of the Mississippi between Grafton and St. Louis, which is a part of the Illinois waterway scheme, and still finish it before the state of Illinois completes its part of the waterway.

FIRST TO TROD ITALIAN SOIL IN 59 YEARS

Pontiff Marks Golden Anniversary in Priesthood.

MOTORS TO ROME Visits Church Where He Was Ordained In 1879.

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 20.—Celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of his priesthood, Pope Pius XI today emerged from this holy city for the first time since he became supreme pontiff of the Catholic church and visited the St. John Lateran Basilica, where he was ordained a priest on Dec. 20, 1879.

His holiness left the gates of St. Peter's square in a motor car at 6:30 o'clock this morning, traveling incognito.

None witnessed his departure, because of the early hour, and the pope crossed all of Rome and returned entirely unnoticed.

It was the first time any pope had trod the soil of the Italian government since the breach between the church and state in 1870.

Church, State in Accord.

It was the final act consummating the complete accord of church and state effected through the signing of the Lateran treaties this year which were followed by the visit of King Victor Emmanuel, Queen Elena and Crown Prince Humbert to the pope.

The purpose of the pope's visit to the St. John Lateran basilica was to celebrate mass. The service was not open to the public, as the famous old church's doors were closed immediately after the pope and those with him entered.

The pope was accompanied by Monsignor Caccia and a number of other high dignitaries of the church.

His holiness was dressed in a white robe covered by a red mantle. The monsignors followed the pontiff's automobile in five other cars.

The entire journey from Vatican City to the St. John Lateran basilica lasted only two hours, as the holy party returned to the Vatican at 9:30 a. m.

Welcomed by Cardinal

His holiness was welcomed at the Basilica by Cardinal Pompei, archbishop of St. John Lateran. The cardinal is an old friend of the pope having attended the Lombardi seminary at which the pontiff also studied.

The prelates in the papal party had been sworn to secrecy regarding the visit. They were the monsignors who usually assist the pope at mass with sacraments.

Not even Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, had been informed of the intentions of the holy father.

By performing the mass in the Basilica, the pope thus took possession of what was really his own parish for the first time since the popes were the archbishops of Rome and St. John Lateran was the seat of Catholicism.

After the mass, his holiness visited the adjoining Lateran museum, formerly the residence of the popes. He paid special attention to the missionary museum which he founded himself.

During the ceremony, the pope was frequently moved to tears. Upon its conclusion, he sat on the bishop's chair and received the obeisance of all present.

SOVIET ENVOY WALES' GUEST

Ambassador to Great Britain Given Audience in St. James' Palace.

By International News Service. LONDON, Dec. 20.—M. Gregori Sokolnikov, Soviet ambassador to Great Britain, was received in audience by the Prince of Wales in the throne room of St. James' palace today.

Sokolnikov arrived here last week as the first Russian envoy to this country in almost two years. There was no Soviet representative here during the intervening period because of the severance of diplomatic relations between England and Soviet Russia.

The man's body was slumped in a chair. His head and shoulders had fallen forward over the table; and his right arm hung at his side, the fingers still clutching an automatic pistol. There was an ugly wound in his right temple. In an open space on the table in front of the body rose a tall and beautifully constructed house of playing cards.

TRAIN SERVICE HIT AS GALE SWEEPS CITY

Gas Supply O. K. as Mercury Takes Tumble.

COAL MAN BUSY No Relief Promised as Ohio Checks Winter Toll.

Riding on the wings of a 50-mile gale King Winter swooped down upon the Ohio Valley yesterday afternoon and last night, sending the thermometers down to the 10 and 12-degree mark.

Train service over the Pennsylvania lines through East Liverpool was crippled today due to the cold weather. The westbound Pittsburgh-Cleveland passenger train due in East Liverpool at 7:58 a. m. did not arrive until about 10:30 o'clock because of a tie-up in the Pittsburgh district.

Street cars on city and interurban lines to Steubenville, Beaver and Salem were maintaining schedules, traction officials said. Few complaints of telephone trouble were reported to officials of the Ohio Bell company.

Gas pressures were strong, T. H. Stephens, manager of the Manufacturers' Light & Heat company, said. Coal dealers reported many orders, but said that deliveries were being handled promptly.

The river was "choppy" at Dam No. 8, but boats were operating. No relief was in sight today. Continued cold with occasional snow flurries was the prediction for tonight.

LAKE DISTRICT SUFFERS

Temperatures throughout the state sagged still lower today as Ohioans cleared away a blanket of snow in an effort to compute the toll of life and property in winter's most recent devastation.

Although the raging fury of the storm had apparently spent itself in some sections of the state—especially the north—were for more snow.

Two districts of Ohio were badly battered by Wednesday's gale, a check showed today. Morrow county, which yesterday was virtually marooned by the blizzard, today attempted to restore the damage which was done there by the blizzard. The lake district likewise fell victim to the storm to the extent of thousands of dollars.

Along the lake heavy damage was done to boat docks by the crushing ice floes which were being lashed by the wind. At Rye Beach, considerable property damage was reported. Losses were also reported from Put-In-Bay, Kelleys Island, and Middle Bass.

Union county was hard hit. The storm there ripped telephone service last night, and several towns, including Marysville, the county seat, were forced to spend Wednesday night in darkness, because of damaged wires and poles, it was reported.

CONGRESSMAN KAYNOR, FOUR OTHERS PLUNGE

Machine Nose-dives at Washington on Yule Trip.

Statesman, Secretary, Friend and Fliers Victims.

By International News Service. WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Five persons, one a member of congress, were killed here today in one of the worst airplane crashes the army air service has experienced in years.

The dead: REPRESENTATIVE W. K. KAYNOR (R) of Springfield, Mass. ARTHUR A. MCGILL, of Boston. STANLEY B. LOWE, secretary to Congressman Kaynor. LIEUTENANT HARRY A. DINGER, pilot, of Mayport, Pa. PRIVATE VLADIMIR KUZMA, of Shelton, Conn.

Bodies Buried in Wreckage. The plane, a three-motored Fokker type which Assistant Secretary of War Trubee Davison used for his personal and official trips, plunged to the ground at Bolling field a few minutes after taking off for Springfield, Mass., where Congressman Kaynor was to have spent the holidays with his wife and six children.

Observers on the field saw it start a banking turn at the north end of the field, about 300 feet up, slide off on a wing, and half-spin into the ground with terrific force.

All the occupants apparently were killed instantly. The plane was totally demolished and the bodies were buried in the twisted mass of wood, fabric and metal.

The cause of the crash may never be determined, although it presumably was due to either one or two of the big motors failing, throwing the ship off on a wing-tip which the pilot was unable to overcome at the altitude.

Wing Crumpled, Report. A later report was that the cause of the accident was the crumpling of one wing, due to structural defects. The plane, however, had been in almost constant official use and had been regularly inspected.

Lieutenant Dinger was rated one of the crack pilots of the army. He was a very popular Congressman and other officials thousands of air miles on official business, and was selected for such tasks because of his ability and careful flying.

News of the fatal crash spread quickly throughout the capital and dispelled some of the holiday atmosphere that has pervaded congress and official circles this week.

Kaynor was a first-timer in congress, but was very popular. President Hoover immediately instituted inquiries concerning the crash, and war department officials and members of congress rushed to the field.

It was some time before any details of the crash or even the names of the victims could be ascertained.

Officers Panic-stricken. Officers commanding Bolling field became so panic-stricken that they seemed to completely lose their heads. Within a few minutes after the crash, the gates of the field were closed, and even the police, much less reporters, were denied admittance. The officers declined to give out any information and the field was demoralized.

Photographers were chased blocks away from the gates, and when half a dozen of them walked down a railroad a half mile from the field and attempted to shoot a picture with long-range lens an army sergeant who had followed them pulled a revolver and put them all under arrest.

At pistol point the photographers were marched back to the field where their plates were smashed and the cameras were damaged.

Planned Surprise. Congressman Kaynor had planned to return to his home in Springfield by train. But at the last minute he decided he would get home quicker and give his family a surprise by flying. He spent a good part of yesterday Christmas shopping, and the presents he had gotten for his children were buried in the wreckage of the plane with him.

Yesterday, according to his friends, he called his friend, Secretary Davison, and asked if he could not have an army plane fly him to Springfield. Davison told him that he would send him up in his own plane.

Last night, the congressman telephoned Davison again saying McGill, one of his constituents, wanted to accompany him, and the necessary permission was granted. Lieut. Dinger was assigned to make the flight.

Leaves Six Children. Representative Kaynor's wife, Mrs. Alice Thyrin Reed Kaynor, and six children, five boys and one girl, survive him.

MARKET QUAKE FAILS TO HURT BUYING POWER

Survey Shows Need Of Full Speed Production.

ORDERS POUR IN

Chicago Manufacturers See Prosperous
Year.

By PIERRE JOHN HUSS
International News Service
Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO—Dec. 19—If the annual Christmas trade can be regarded as a seasonal barometer of the country's prosperity, then the recent stock market disturbance aided in a large way to deflate the buying power of the average citizen. That is, unless the canny Chicago manufacturers who yearly supply approximately sixty million Americans with Christmas presents guessed wrong.

Following the market upheaval
the industrial, wholesale, retail, import, export and transportation leaders of the city were somewhat uncertain as to what effect the collapse of paper values would have on Christmas buying, and consequently Santa Claus, workshops marked time while a careful survey was made of the purchasing power of the public for the month of December. When the facts and figures had been gathered and compiled, it was obvious that as far as the sixty million persons included in the area supplied by Chicago manufacturers were concerned, the production whistle could be blown for full speed ahead and in some cases for overtime.

Decision Justified
The large holiday trade orders that poured into local offices from all over the country apparently justified the decision of the business and commercial leaders.

The toy manufacturers, seventy-five of them, had a schedule that called for an output representing a combined value of $7,000,000.

Preference in toys this year leaned toward electrical things, consequently seven leading Chicago manufacturers specialized entirely in electrical playthings for Christmas; five made dolls and a like number dolls' furniture; three combined themselves to manufacturing mechanical toys; three to making juvenile furniture and Christmas tree outfits; two each to paper toys, blocks, construction toys and juvenile vehicles. The remaining plants turned out capacity quantities of steam engines, drums, aerial replicas, children's musical instruments and thousands of odds and ends.

Jewelry Trade
The jewelry jobbers and silverware manufacturers, who with their hundred local plants claim the leading place in the world market, gave estimates showing they were putting $250,000,000 worth of products on the market for Christmas pocketbooks. These costly gifts were handled through 200 wholesalers. They include the pure jewelry and the more or less expensive table, boudoir and personal adornment.

The local candy trade, which supplies 14 per cent of the nation's sweet tooth wants, rounded out a production chart showing that after Christmas its bill this year to the public will be $50,000,000. That sum kept the pay envelopes filled in 110 plants here.

In addition to Chicago manufactured goods, the importers announce they have ordered several million dollars worth of foreign goods. These include products that are in demand here more by Americans if they carry a foreign trade mark—modern and ancient handiwork, perfumes, ornamental boxes, baskets, jewelry novelties, earthenware, art treasures and the like.

Similar optimistic reports come from the manufacturers and distributors in the city who supply a good share of products in numerous other fields, such as athletic equipment, cars, radios, furs, "gee-gaws," and what not. In short unless a group of shrewd men in this city made a costly blunder, the stock market crash was merely the bursting of a bubble that, if anything, supplied more fodder for the Santa Claus team.

he received a warm reception.

THEATER

News and Reviews of Current Movies"THE SAP" RINGS
BELL AT STATE

"The Sap," at the State theater, is the laughmaker for the whole family, from the ages of eight to eighty.

"The Sap"—that is what the whole village called Bill Small, for his abused ideas for patents, his notions of things to better the town and the nation at large, and never including the betterment of the conditions of his faithful wife, Jane (played so delightfully by Patsy Miller), or his nagging sister, Jane (played by Edna Murphy).

Bill's wife encouraged his flights of fancy, in proportion to the fault-finding of Jane, who compared him always with her loud-mouthed and showy husband, Ed Mason, a bank employee. The tide turned when not only Ed Mason, but the big banker of the town were implicated in the stealing of several thousand dollars from the bank.

The sap at once had another bright idea! "Give me," he said, "enough to make $50,000, and I will amooose, taking the blame for the embezzlement!" This they did. Investigations were about to bring the stay-at-homes' duplicity to light, when word came that the wandering sap had bought the local bank and was on his way back. Home he came, a millionaire, to be acclaimed from the house-tops as a hero whose name would go thundering down the ages.

first scene and opening sentence in Willard Mack's crisp dialogue to the last, and completely dispelled whatever fears his fans may have held for his future in the talkies. The picture shows a rare discernment on the part of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in providing so scintillating a vehicle for Gilbert, and in adapting it for the screen. Willard Mack did so with a careful precision in transferring Molnar's delicate story treatment. Whatever liberties he took with the dialogue and modernization is well-advised and adds to the brightness of the production.

Katherine Dale Owen, New York stage star, makes her talkie screen debut opposite Gilbert as the beautiful young widow who happens to be a princess and therefore becomes a puppet of passions in a court of regal conventionalities. That she falls in love with the dashing young officer is, of course, indiscreet. When she spurns him as a peasant of low birth, however, she invites herself to partake of a bitter situation which gives him an upper hand.

STARS OF STAGE
IN "PARIS" CAST

The cast of "Paris," which stars Irene Bordoni at the American theater, is made up entirely of stage favorites, or those who were formerly on the stage.

Miss Bordoni, of course, has been a musical comedy star for a number of years. Her leading man, Jack Buchanan, is a star in his own right and is famous on the New York and London stage. Jason Roberts was a member of the original cast of "Lightnin'" and Louise Closser Hale played with Miss Bordoni in the stage version of "Paris." Margaret Fielding, the ingenue of the picture, was also formerly on the stage.

"Paris" is the screen version of Miss Bordoni's Broadway success of last season, and is a First National and Vitaphone picture, directed by Clarence Badger. It is all-dialogue, with singing and dancing.

large $1,000,000 department store, which had only candles to provide illumination?

Did you ever become stranded in an elevator between floors? If not, you should have been in downtown Columbus yesterday.

Theaters, Hotels Hit.

An explosion in an underground conduitway wrecked 4 power and light cables late Wednesday afternoon, and downtown Columbus spent Wednesday night and Thursday without electric light and power.

At the time of the explosion, many theaters were playing to full houses. When the power went off, the patrons were dismissed after they had been refunded their admission fees.

Hotels, too, suffered. The guests were forced to use candles and walk up from one to 20 flights of stairs to their rooms. Large downtown restaurants served their patrons in the meager, jumpy and shadow-making reflections of the candle.

Beauty Shop Patron Laughs.

An amusing instance was reported. A woman was having her hair marcelled in a beauty shop. When the power went off, the iron cooled and could not be taken off. It was necessary to run an emergency power line to the building before the woman was released. However, she went away laughing.

Residents took the "break" good-naturedly. It was somewhat of a lark for them.

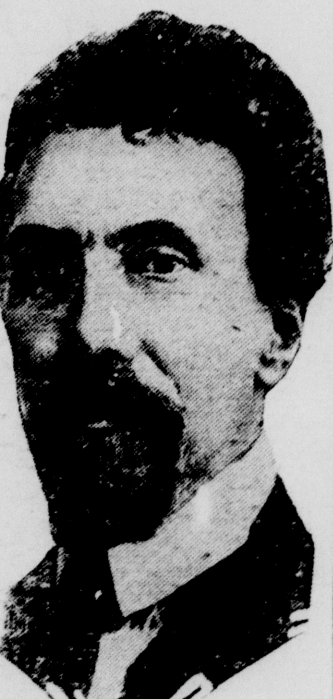

The wires of the International News Service could not be operated from the Ohio state bureau in Columbus because of the lack of power. The news of the world-wide organization was handled from the Cleveland bureau temporarily. By using 19 automobile batteries, the service was able to operate one of its six telegraph machines yesterday afternoon.

All power and light lines were restored early today.

Thousands of fish have been poisoned recently in rivers of England, due, it is believed, to the effluent from factories.

Eighty-year-old John Orme, of Wickford, England, recently took his daughter for a ride in a motorcycle.

He Faces Exile

Comrade Rykov, whose antiradical tendencies have led Comissar Stalin to force his resignation from the important post of chairman of the council of the Soviet commissars, the highest office in the Russian administration. It is reported that Rykov will follow Leonid Frotzky, deposed Communist leader, into exile.

POTTERS FIGHT
FREIGHT RATE

Counsel Retained in Pennsy Company Suit.

LISBON—Attorney W. H. Voadrey of East Liverpool has been retained as counsel by a number of pottery manufacturers who were recently sued in common pleas court by the Pennsylvania Railroad company to recover various amounts claimed to be due as freight charges on carlots of clay shipped into the East Liverpool district from Tennessee and Kentucky.

In all of these cases, counsel has filed a motion to have the railroad company attach to and file with its numerous petitions a copy of the rate schedule fixing and giving the freight charges on shipments of clay referred to in the petition.

In the amended petition filed by the carrier, it has been set up that the freight was originally $4.94 a ton, whereas it should have been $5.29 a ton. All freight bills presented on the first rate have been paid, and the difference between the two rates is now sought to be collected.

Owen D. Young Quizzed On Radio Conditions By Senate Board

Owen D. Young of New York has been called to testify before the interstate commerce board regarding radio conditions in America. The testimony of the former head of the reparations committee and present chairman of the Board of the Radio Corporation of America, will have a great bearing on his future political career, according to astute capital observers. 30 STRANDED AFTER RESCUE IN ICE JAM

Taken From Marooned Ship in Sandusky Bay.

CHANNEL CLOSED
Islanders May Spend Yule Away From Home.

By International News Service. SANDUSKY, O., Dec. 20.—Thirty residents of Killys Island, including eight women and two babies, who were rescued from the marooned passenger ship Tourist when it jammed in the ice off Sandusky bay yesterday, were stranded in Sandusky today faced with the possibility of spending their Christmas away from home.

Only three ways remain for the 30 stranded islanders to get back home with their Christmas purchases. One, according to lake-faring men, is if the wind shifts and blows hard enough to clear the channel of the ice. The second possibility is by airplane and the third is to wait for the lake to freeze thick enough for them to walk the 10 miles back to the island.

Crawl Over Floes. The passengers, nearly all of whom had come to the mainland to do their Christmas shopping, were forced to crawl a perilous quarter of a mile through the darkness of late yesterday evening over thin, shifting ice floes to the steamer Messenger which had pushed through the ice as close to the ice-jammed Tourist as possible.

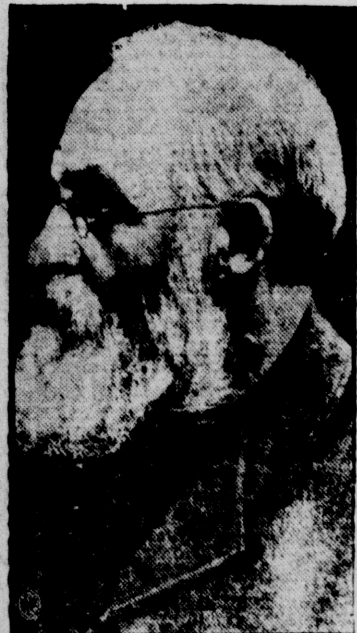

The Messenger, aided by the tugboat, Gillan, late last night and early today battled to break the Tourist loose from its ice grave and bring it back to port. Ice was reported to have piled high about its decks and it was feared that the Tourist was frozen in for the winter.

The Tourist was caught in the ice floe, pushed by yesterday's gale, just as the boat reached the turn on the lake channel on its trip to the island. The ice relentlessly caught the ship up and shoved it back into the shallow water of the bay where it grounded while ice piled up about it.

SUES FOR DIVORCE. LISBON—Dollie Deem, a minor, through her counsel, Frank E. Grosshans, has filed a petition for divorce in common pleas court against her husband, Clarke T. Deem, of Orchard Grove avenue, East Liverpool, charging Deem with gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. They were married at Chester, W. Va., Sept. 12, 1927.

Leipzig, Germany, is claimed to be the tallest in Europe, its 512 feet being 147 feet higher than the cross on St. Paul's Cathedral in London.

Seeks $5,000,000

Charles F. Ruggles, eccentric millionaire bachelor, smiles during the court proceedings in which his counsel is attempting to defeat a $5,000,000 damage suit brought by John H. Rademaker, his former business associate, one time office boy and private secretary. Ruggles, who is 83 years old, jocosely refers to "John's kindness in keeping me out of bankruptcy."

HOUSE, SENATE PREPARE FOR YULE VACATION

Congress Sidetracks
All Legislation of Importance.

TWO-WEEK REST

Tariff on Calendar for New Year's Work.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—With all important legislation laid aside, congress began putting its house in order today in anticipation of a two weeks' vacation over the holidays.

Both house and senate will adjourn tomorrow, not to meet again until Monday, January 6. Scores of senators and representatives beat the gun by closing their desks in the last 24 hours to catch home-bound trains. The exodus left administration leaders in both branches doubtful whether they can maintain the quorums, necessary to transact business, until the hour of adjournment.

The senate will return in the new year to resume its work on the new tariff bill.

90-Day Tariff Debate.

Except for emergency affairs, the tariff will be debated solely to the exclusion of all other legislation until it is passed. This may take until March 1, as predictions range from 30 to 60 days.

The house will come back to the task of enacting some $4,500,000,000 worth of departmental appropriation bills. Administration leaders expected to pass the agriculture appropriation bill before quitting. This will leave eight major supply measures for the new year, as the interior department bill was passed 10 days ago.

All these measures will be tied up in the senate until the tariff is passed.

After the Christmas vacation, the senate will have a number of other important problems. The privileged questions, involving the seating of Senator Joseph R. Grundy (R.) of Pennsylvania, and of Senator Pat Sullivan (R.) of Wyoming, must be settled by the senate after its elections committee reports on the credentials of each. Grundy was challenged because he contributed $400,000 to the $1,800,000 campaign fund of Governor John S. Fisher, of Pennsylvania. Sullivan was challenged because the attorney general of Wyoming held that Governor Emerson did not have the appointing power under Wyoming law.

Senate Inquiries Listed.

The senate's regular quota of investigations will be carried into the new year. The lobby probe, the cotton price inquiry and the hearings on a federal communications bill will be resumed. To these may be added an investigation into conditions on the New York and other stock exchanges.

In the house in respite from action on appropriation bills, the president's recommendations on prison reforms will be considered. Several plans have been proposed for correcting prison conditions, which have provoked outbreaks in a number of state prisons as well as in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kansas.

Mexico has a tennis craze.

ACQUIT FOUR IN 'GHOST' CASE

Arkansas Jury Holds
"Slain" Man is Not Dead.

By International News Service.
MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark., Dec. 20.—Connie Franklin today was further assured he is not a corpse. After 18 hours of deliberation a jury late yesterday reached the decision Connie Franklin still lives and acquitted four men, who were charged with murdering Franklin last March 9.

The 12 jurymen found it necessary to decide whether the man who appeared suddenly from a neighboring community to become the star witness for the defense was really Connie Franklin, supposedly murdered. Joseph Whitte and William Younger, two of the defendants, were allowed to go free, but the other two, Herman Greenway and Joseph Hester, were made to furnish bonds of $2,000 each. They are charged with attacking 17-year-old Tillar Rumer, state's witness who swore the four defendants killed Franklin as the couple were on their way to get married.

Taking the stand the girl testified the four men set upon her and beat Franklin with stones until he died. Two of them then attacked her, according to the testimony.

Although European firms had offered, with little success, front-wheel drive automobiles for several years, those made in America won much praise at the last auto show in Paris.

Argentina now has 61,000 factories employing 600,000 men.

DOG LICENSES NET $8,149

County Issues 5,800
Tags During Last
Year.

LISBON—Since the sale of dog license tags for 1929 has closed and the issue for 1930 substituted, records disclose $8,149 was received from this source in Columbiana county during the last year.

Licenses were issued for 5,800 dogs, or several hundred under the record for 1928. Tags were issued for 4,356 males and 904 females, for which there was received for the former $4,328 and $2,683.50 for the latter. For 325 spayed females, $324.50 was received and for 43 kennel licenses, $430 was collected. There were 22 duplicate tags sold for $5.50 and $368 was received from penalties from dog owners who failed to buy licenses before the first of the year. In issuing 38 transfers, $9.50 was collected.

Less the expense of operating this department, the money has been transferred to the credit of the dog and kennel fund, from which sheep claims are paid semi-annually. The 1930 dog license tags are being issued in slightly heavier volume than during the corresponding term last year. The law provides that a license for dogs shall be purchased before Jan. 1 each year.

TWO ARE HELD IN ATTACK ON AUTO DRIVER

Smiths Ferry Youth And Ohioan in Jail.

HUNT THIRD MAN

G. E. Toole Recovering From Plunge In Run.

MIDLAND—Ralph Johnson, 26, Smiths Ferry, and James Davis, 28, Klondyke, O., formerly of Smiths Ferry, are being held by the state police here pending an investigation of the alleged attack upon G. E. Toole, 32, Gettysburg street, Pittsburgh, former manager of the Pittsburgh branch of the Sears and Roebuck company, who was found in a semi-conscious condition and half-submerged in the waters of Upper Dry run in Smiths Ferry, Wednesday morning.

The men were arrested along the Ohio-Smiths Ferry road on suspicion of person charged. A third man is being sought for questioning.

According to police, Toole was enroute to his home after a business trip to Cleveland, O., when a front tire blew out near the Dawson filling station on the Midland-Smiths Ferry road where the Ohio-Smiths Ferry road intersects. He asked two men to assist him in changing the tire and while bending over the rim was rendered unconscious by a blow on the head.

The sedan driven by Toole was parked near the spot where he was found. A spare tire had been placed on the right front wheel and the torn tire and tube had been arranged on the carrier in the rear of the machine. Toole's traveling bag, brief case, robe and kit of tools and a wallet and card case were missing.

Toole, whose forehead was cut, is recovering at the home of Mrs. Jennie Duncan, Smiths Ferry. The suspects were questioned yesterday by state authorities and County Detective Frank Weber.

WELLSVILLE MEN TO FACE JANUARY JURY

Charged With Aiding Jail Delivery Attempt.

IN COUNTY JAIL

Mort Nicholson, T. E. Dolby Held Under $3,000 Bail.

WELLSVILLE—Among the cases that will be considered by the grand jury when it convenes on January 6 will be those of Mort Nicholson and T. E. Dolby, both of Wellsville, who are being held in jail under $3,000 bond charged with conveying articles into prison to aid an escape.

The men were arrested here on information filed by Sheriff William J. Barlow after he had investigated the attempted escape from the county jail on October 26, last, of John Densmore, Charles Grum, Raymond Petty and William Menor.

The jail delivery was frustrated when Sheriff Barlow heard a noise in the call room of the second floor. Investigating, he found five bars near the cell door cut. A hook had been made from an iron pipe taken from a cell cot and blankets had been cut into strips which the men intended using in lowering themselves to the ground.

A search of the cell revealed six saws which, it is alleged, found their way to the jail concealed in a package containing a tube of shaving cream addressed to Petty.

The men alleged by the sheriff to have been involved in the plot are now serving time in the Ohio penitentiary and Mansfield reformatory.

HIGH QUINT ON ROAD; RESERVES, GIRLS HERE

Graduate Contests Saturday

Aliquippa Cagers On Potters' Court Tonight.

WHILE they copped their opening encounter by a decisive score, East Liverpool high school cagers are fully conscious of the fact that they will face tougher opposition this season than Bethany high gave them last week as they leave today for their initial trip of the 1929-30 campaign, which takes them into Coshocton.

The fact is, Coshocton figures to be tougher than the Bethanians were and it's no secret that the Alumni, whom the Zookmen battle Saturday night on the local court, can rake together a brilliant aggregation of former Blue and White luminaries.

The Coshocton combine has always been a factor in sectional basketball tournaments and while winning no championships recently, have, nevertheless, been consistently successful over the full-season route.

Reserves, Girls at Home. Assistant Coach Tom Dixon will remain at home tonight to supervise his Reserve squad in their scrimmage with the Aliquippa Secs.

The Pennsylvanians handed the Potter Reserves a setback in football this season and the locals will leave no stone unturned nor no field goal unsunk in their efforts to even the score with the Lippe contingent.

The local and Aliquippa Reserves will clash in a preliminary to the game between the local high school girls and the Aliquippa ladies, the two events being scheduled for 7 and 8 o'clock, respectively.

Bobby Witherow, last year's high school cage captain and one of the best guards turned out here in many seasons, combining defensive ability with scoring skill, will probably lead the graduates in their clash with the Zookmen tomorrow night.

The Alumni squad will be selected from athletic stars of the last two seasons.

Alumni Stars Plentiful. The fact is, however, it would not be necessary to go back far to collect a more likely looking aggregation than the Alumni can summon from the material at hand.

Witherow, who no doubt will be stationed at his regular position, is attending Bellefonte academy now but will be back long enough to trouble the high school lads.

And there is plenty of class among the other defense candidates, including Bob Crawford, Eddie Bloor, Bernard Menge, Jimmie Skidmore and Bennie Crawford.

Elmer "Elmo" English and Don Burdick provide ample material for the selection of a center.

And it will be difficult to show preference among the forwards with Jimmy Wildblood, Dave Peir, Howard Lindell and "Red" Small lined up for duty.

The annual clash between high school and former high school ladies completes the Saturday night program. Both games should develop plenty of action.

TIGER SQUADS WIN TWO TILTS

Wellsville Boys Defeat Salineville, 36-23; Girls are Victors in 39-13 Game.

Wellsville high school basketball teams copped both ends of a double bill last night at Salineville. Dave Evans' boys' squad copped by a score of 36 to 23 while the girls finished ahead easily, 39 to 13.

The Orange and Black squads worked smoothly in both games.

JEWISH HEAVY FACES GAGNON

Armand Emanuel Expected to Win By Knockout Friday in Garden Bout.

By International News Service. BOSTON, Dec. 20.—Armand Emanuel of Los Angeles, today made final preparations for his bout with Jack Gagnon, of Allston, at the Boston garden arena here tonight. The colorful Jewish heavyweight predicted a victory over Gagnon via the kayo route.

Following that he said he hoped to receive matches with Jimmy Madoney and Ernie Schauf, prominent local heavyweights.

Morgan Defends His Title

130-pound Champ is Even Money Bet With Bass.

By DAVIS J. WALSH, International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—They are going to play one of those finals of the "Consolation singles" at Madison Square Garden tonight, the prize being the 130-pound championship of the boxing world. This title, held over a four-year reign by Tod Morgan, of the Coast, is a gratuity intended to console its custodian for the fact that life has played him for a humpty-dumpty. Too small for the light weight, too big for the feather weight, he is a hybrid of the profession and must seek his destiny where he may. Yet good men have held that title—Johnny Dundee and Jack Bernstein, for instance—and Morgan by no means is the worst of them.

Few Real Contenders. A sound champion, his very ability has left the division without the life blood of real contention and so it is fortunate that a fighter as good as Benny Bass comes forward tonight in the role of challenger. Bass is another anomaly of the ring. Two years ago, he was fighting Tony Canzoneri for the featherweight championship with a broken collar bone, a stoic episode that is remembered to this day.

He almost stole the show that night with one arm and they were sure that he couldn't miss the title the next time he came back for more. He never came back for more. One little extra ounce soon became an extra pound, the pound became two pounds, then three. Bass no longer was a featherweight champion contender because he no longer was a featherweight. Neither was he a lightweight, unfortunately.

House May Scale $50,000.

Fate had decreed for him that middle ground that is the abode of neither fish nor fowl and so tonight we find him fighting another of these "neutral-weight" for the championship of hybrids. They are making a real championship meeting of it, with the limit placed at the title distance of 15 rounds and a house that may scale up to $50,000. They still remember Morgan around here for the great fight he made with Joe Glick the last time he had his title on the counter.

Bass, however, is getting the play in the betting. They always fancy the puncher, when everything else is equal, and Benjamin undoubtedly can lay them in. Morgan, too, is the oldest champion in the lists in point of continuity and maybe they think he is about due for the wash. He can't win them all, for a fact, and tonight's defense will be his sixteenth since he took Mike Ballerino for the title bout on the coast in 1925. However, when men like Glick, Joey Sanger, Cannonball Martin, Dundee and Santiago Zorilla can't beat him, he must be no worse than even money with Bass.

BOWLING GREEN WINS. By International News Service. BOWLING GREEN, O., Dec. 20.—The falcon quintet of Bowling Green college today stood victor over Case School of Applied Science by virtue of a 33 to 29 win here yesterday afternoon.

Bowling Green led at the first half, 19 to 7, making it look like a walkaway, but the cagemen of Case came back in the last half with a burst of power that threatened to take the game off the ice. Cox of Bowling Green garnered 12 points to aid his teammates in victory, while Byrns starred for Case with 13.

Iowa Captain

Marcus Magnussen elected captain of the Hawkeye eleven. The ruling, which banned twenty-two athletes (according to the demands of the Big Ten Conference) leaves Magnussen the captain virtually by the process of elimination. The center is cousin of Burr Ingwersen, head football coach at Iowa and stormy petrel of the Big Ten.

CARNEGIE CAGE SQUAD IS CUT

Tartan Crew Reduced to 10; Play Youngstown Y. M. C. A. in Opener Dec. 27.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 20.—Coach Ralph Hogan of the Carnegie Tech basketball team made another cut in his squad yesterday, reducing the number to ten men. These players are putting up a great battle for positions, and by the time the opening game of the season is at hand the Tartan mentor will know fully the relative worth of each individual.

Several of the boys go over the six foot mark. Ralph Merten, elongated center, is the tallest. He goes six feet three inches in his stocking feet. Marvin Fox of Reading, Pa., only an inch shorter. Logan Webster, local boy, towers six feet 1 1/2 inches, while Captain George Nease, veteran forward, is an even six feet tall.

The first game for the Tartans will be with the Youngstown (O.) Y. M. C. A. on December 27. The following day the first college opponent, St. John's College of Toledo will be met in the home of the latter. The opening tilt in the Tartan's gymnasium will be with the powerful Pitt Panthers on January 8, several days after the students return from the Christmas vacations.

WILMINGTON COPS. By International News Service. WILMINGTON, O., Dec. 20.—Wilmington college cage squad had another scalp tucked in its belt today, making it the third straight win.

The victim this time was the Hillsboro National Guard five which was on the short end of a 28 to 22 score.

Wilmington got away to a 20 to 9 lead at the end of the first half. Every member of the team scored before the final gun had barked.

The Wilmington Reserves took one away from the Wilmington high school quintet, 26 to 14, in a preliminary game.

Gridders Pick New Captain

McCoy Named at Athletic Association Dinner.

SAUL MCCOY, JR., one of the best linemen in Ohio valley football circles this fall, a son of Saul McCoy, Fairview street, was named captain of the 1930 high school grid squad in the letter men's annual election, held last night in connection with the banquet tendered the school gridders by the East Liverpool Athletic association.

Places for approximately 150 were arranged at the dinner, served in the parish house of the St. Stephen's Episcopal church, by women of the congregation.

McCoy succeeds Fred Althar, brilliant center of this year's eleven who finished his high school football career when he led the Potters to victory over Wellsville Thanksgiving day.

To the retiring captain was awarded the football reminiscent of the Wellsville victory.

Dr. K. D. Dotson, head of the Athletic association, presided at last night's banquet.

Talks were given by Coach Earl Zook, the retiring captain and the captain-elect, Supt. H. G. Means and association members.

Zook pointed out that encouragement such as was apparent in the spirit pervading the banquet room was essential to the success of school athletics. He expressed gratitude for the aid of the Athletic unit. He also declared that the squad will lose 12 letter men in the spring.

Supt. Means congratulated the players, cheer leaders and others for their fight in the face of defeat, lauded the association and termed Coaches Zook and Dixon as "high type of leaders."

Brief talks also were made by Dr. Carl McCutcheon, William T. McNutt, Dr. Collin Kinsey, Frank McConville, Frank Witherow, Thurman Cunningham and Richard Brian.

At the close of the program, Frank McConville offered a motion in which the association expressed its thanks to the women of the church, high school faculty and any others who aided in the success of the dinner.

Smackey Ring Foe Runs Out

Smallwood Fails to Box Canonsburg Boy.

CHET SMALLWOOD, Akron lightweight, and his manager, W. H. Norcross, ran out on Johnny Smackey, Matchmaker Ray Foutts and the customers at last night's show at the Valley A. C., Wellsville. As a result there was no main bout.

The pre-Christmas house was small, most of the regular customers being busy writing letters to Santa Claus or something. At any rate, Norcross got heart failure or falling of the arches when he risked on eye on the throng there assembled and immediately went into conference behind his own beard and utterly secluded from the noise and clamor of the auditorium.

At any rate, Matchmaker Ray Foutts was on the point of issuing search warrants, the mayor's office being handy, for the missing manager when the latter appeared on the scene, fatigued and worn from the terrific argument between his better self and his desire for filthy dough. The jury department won by a big margin, no recount being necessary. So curfew did not ring last night, nor Scotty Campbell's song.

Seriously, however, Matchmaker Ray Foutts offered to increase the ante for Smallwood, which was not necessary in view of the fact that Norcross had contracted to fight for a certain figure, regardless of the size of the gate. Refusal of Norcross to go on with the bout remains simply a run-out and nothing else.

Smallwood got up in the ring, shook hands all around and told the audience, through the medium of the announcer, how sorry he was about it, and all that sort of thing, declaring he was absolutely anxious to fight but his manager wouldn't let him. It sounded very well, but bologna remains bologna even if you try to call it steak.

The fiasco was no fault of the promoter's who, although three fights had been run off, returned tickets to the customers for the next show.

Pette Patch of Wheeling won from Bus Hardy, Beaver Falls, in six rounds Jack Gibbs, Wheeling, stopped Sambo Brown, Irondale, in the third of a scheduled four. Nick Malone, Wellsville, and Kid Higgins, East Liverpool, drew in four

DEMANDS HAND STOLEN BY KIN

Although It's Artificial, Kansas Declares It's Valuable To Him.

By International News Service. KANSAS CITY, Kas.—Wanted one hand—artificial, however.

Lee Coleman is getting tired of running around with one hand and has filed suit here demanding that the long arm of the law force his brother-in-law to return the missing artificial hand.

In the suit for the hand that went A. W. O. L. the plaintiff charges that his brother-in-law, Carl Silkey, Maywood, Kas., has no perfectly good hands and has no use whatever for the third extremity.

Coleman said he had been employed by his brother-in-law and they had quarreled over repairs on a motor car. He charged Silkey demanded he pay part of the repair bill and that when he left Silkey's home, where he was living, his brother-in-law kept the hand.

1929 BOND MARKET IS SHADOWED BY SPECTACULAR STOCK ANTICS

Buyers Lured Away From Income Investment by Speculative Mirages.

BY MUNROE ROBERTS, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK.—Under competition from the stock market, for the greater part of the year, the bond market established a new record in 1929. Financing of governments and corporations fell off 35 per cent as compared with the previous year and more than 50 per cent from the banner year 1927, which witnessed flotation of six and a half billion dollars in new and foreign bonds in the home market.

The spirit of speculation was abroad in the land this year. Thousands of individuals and corporate investors, with billions of dollars of resources at their command, were won from the channels of strict income investment to try their hand at what they were pleased to call speculative investment.

The purchasing of securities which offered the double lure of a satisfactory income return and a likely prospect of an enhancement of market value took the place of scientific bond buying in most of the important financial centers and common stocks replaced bonds as the most popular form of investment.

Less Bond Financing.

The results of this important evolution in investment circles were seen in the lessening of bond financing and the increase in new stock issues during the year.

Large corporations took advantage of the situation by offering to their stockholders and to the public in general new stock issues at concessions from market prices (though at considerably above par values). With the proceeds of these they paid off maturing bond issues or liquidated debts which otherwise might have subsequently appeared in the form of bond issues.

Finding it impossible to market bonds which did not contain an acceptable speculative flavor, the investment houses had no choice but to retire gracefully from the field, for the time being, and to decline the underwriting of issues for which there was no general demand. Municipal officials were compelled to withdraw authorized bonds for which bids were not up to the standards set by the city ordinances.

Revival is Seen.

A revival of bond financing on a substantial scale is now confidently expected in investment circles, following closely on the heels of the November deflation in the stock market, which released at least a billion dollars from the call loan market for the use of the bond market in a more favorable position. Thousands of investors, learning their first lesson of caution in the employment of their

the year. Corporations Pleased.

This will be good news for corporation heads, state and municipal and other officials which they have been attempting to market for the past six months or more, with discouraging results. An unusually heavy January distribution of interest and dividend money, aggregating perhaps a billion dollars, will greatly facilitate the absorption of these bonds and assist in the expansion and building program recently outlined by the leaders of business at their conference at Washington.

Without funds it will be impossible to carry on these projects, and it is fortunate that the bond market is in a position to cooperate fully with financial and business leaders at this time.

The political situation in Brazil is being strongly affected by the coffee market, which has been very weak.

BERLIN READY FOR VOTE ON "YOUNG PLAN"

Electors Will Troop To Polls on Sunday.

FOES LINE UP

Ask "Vote Against Enslavement of the People."

By Otto Tolischus.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—Political party lines throughout Germany stood tightly drawn today for the "battle of the ballots" on Sunday when the German voters will troop to the polls to vote on the referendum to decide whether Germany shall accept and obey the "Young plan" for reparation payments.

With their ranks badly battered by the recent revolt of the nationalist secessionists and with their party coffers sorely depleted, but encouraged by the utter confusion reigning among their enemies, and by the financial debacle of the Mueller government, the combined Nationalist-Fascist forces, led by Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, are asking the German voters to vote for the "law against the enslavement of the German people."

The battle issue embodied in the bill for a national referendum election is nominally directed against the Young plan, which threatens to imprison as traitors all government ministers adopting this or any other reparations plan based upon the "lie" that Germany started the World war.

The real issue, however, which is being brought ever more to the forefront in the campaign for the referendum, is to oust the socialist Mueller government from power, and to pave the way for a reorganization of Germany along fascist anti-parliamentary lines.

Quickly Sweetens Sour Stomach

Vast Multitudes Rely on ORANGE ROOT to Sweeten and Tone Up Sick, Sour Stomachs

Mr. Earle McGee, 509 Washington ave., Charleston, W. Va., says: "I have had the worst stomach condition for the past 15 years. Everything I ate soured or fermented in my stomach causing constipation, gas and bloating. Pains throughout my body at times became almost unbearable. It was so bad at times I really thought I was a goner. Some called it acute indigestion, but whatever it was, it was terrible. The spells would come on me shortly after eating, and often during the night. I could hardly get my breath, and thought I would choke to death. All I could retain in my stomach was milk, but it did not satisfy my craving for more substantial food. I could feel my strength creeping away, day by day. I lost weight till I was only skin and bones. I lost all pep and ambition and my work became a burden. My liver was very much deranged, as I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells, and my sleep so disturbed that morning found me completely ALL IN. As every body here seemed to be taking this ORANGE ROOT and the Golden Nuggets with wonderful results, I decided to try it myself. Now since taking 6 bottles of it and a few of those Golden Nuggets, all my stomach miseries have left me, my liver acts normally and I feel peppy and alert at all times. I have no more headaches or dizzy spells, eat anything, sleep well at night, and feel like a new made man. My recovery from ill health has been so rapid and lasting that I am telling everybody I know just how wonderful these ORANGE ROOT remedies really are."

Orange Root contains such time-proven herbs as Gentian, Yellow Root, Nux Vomica and Celery Seeds, combined with IRON. This famous combination of such meritorious ingredients seems to benefit everybody in some particular way. End your stomach miseries this very day. For sale at MATH- EWS MEDICINE STORE here and by all the better drug stores everywhere. Get the genuine ORANGE ROOT—There is NO SUBSTITUTE.

Owa-Ton-Na Brings Renewed Health To Local Resident

Stomach Disorders and a General Run Down Condition Responds to This Natural Treatment.

"Food caused gas to form in my stomach and I would belch a bitter, glary fluid. I would have headaches for days at a time which made me greatly discouraged," says Mrs. Mary Burrows, 123 W. Second street, East Liverpool, Ohio. "I have suffered with constipation, dizzy spells and backaches and I never seemed to have any energy or pep, always tired and all in."

"What a big change Owa-Ton-Na made in just a short time. I could even notice a difference from the first bottle. Now I can eat almost anything I want without distress, food tastes good and my bowels act regularly. Headaches, dizzy spells and backaches are all a thing of the past. I suffered for years with running sores on my limbs and these have shown a marked improvement due to my general condition being better. I feel better than I have for years."

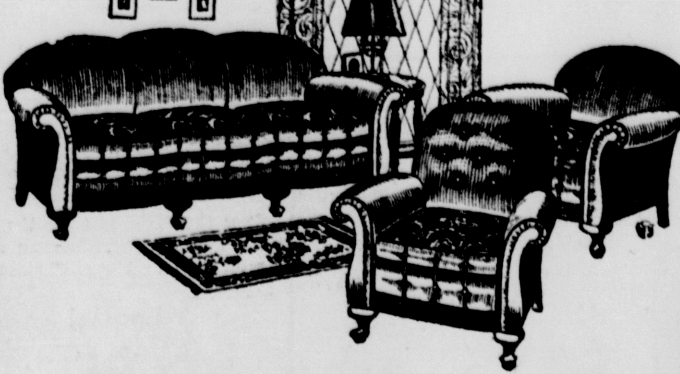

Owa-Ton-Na certainly has worked miracles for me. "Anyone who is suffering should give Owa-Ton-Na a trial as I feel they, too, will be surprised with the remarkable way it cleans up the system."

SNOOK GETS DEATH STAY

State Supreme Court To Rule Before Jan. 31.

By International News Service. COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 20—A yuletide stay of execution will prevent Dr. James Howard Snook, 49, ex-college professor and convicted murderer of his co-ed sweetheart, Miss Theora Hix, from paying the supreme penalty in the electric chair tonight for his brutal crime.

simply said, "I'm mighty glad to hear that."

The Ohio supreme court, late yesterday afternoon, granted the doomed man a stay of execution until January 31. No action was taken on the killer's appeal for a new trial, but it was stated that despite the recess, a decision may be forthcoming at any time.

E. O. Ricketts, defense attorney for Dr. Snook, said that the man's wife, Mrs. Mabel Marple Snook, was still loyal to her husband.

"Mrs. Snook is as loyal as ever to her husband," said Ricketts. "She visits him nearly every day." Ricketts reiterated his statement that if the supreme court rejects the appeal, he will carry the case to the United States supreme court.

Bishop Murder Case

Philo Vance Story of Mystery and Crime.

By S. S. VAN DINE

By S. S. Van Dine,

Chapter I.
OF all the criminal cases in which Philo Vance participated as an unofficial investigator, the most sinister, the most bizarre, the seemingly most incomprehensible, and certainly the most terrifying, was the one that followed the famous Greene murders. The orgy of horror at the old Greene mansion had been brought to its astounding close in December, and after the Christmas holidays Vance had gone to Switzerland for the winter sports. Returning to New York at the end of February he had thrown himself into some literary work he had long had in mind—and for over a month he had devoted himself sedulously to this thankless task.

However, the fact remains that Vance's translation of Menander was rudely interrupted in early April, and for weeks he became absorbed in a criminal mystery which threw the entire country into a state of gruesome excitement.

This new criminal investigation, in which he acted as a kind of amicus curiae for John F. X. Markham, the district attorney of New York, at once became known as the Bishop murder case. There was nothing ecclesiastical about that ghastly saturnalia of crime which set an entire community to reading the "Mother Goose Melodies" with fearful apprehension, and no one of the name of Bishop was, as far as I know, even remotely connected with the monstrous events which bore that appellation. But, withal, the word "Bishop" was appropriate, for it was an alias used by the murderer for the first of his purposes. Incidentally it was this name that eventually led Vance to the almost incredible truth, and ended one of the most ghastly multiple crimes in police history.

The series of uncanny and apparently unrelated events which constituted the Bishop murder case and drove all thought of Menander and Greek monstrosities from Vance's mind, began on the morning of April 2, less than five months after the double shooting of Julia and Ada Greene. It was one of those warm luxurious spring days which sometimes bless New York in early April; and Vance was breakfasting in his little roof garden at a top his apartment in East 38th street. It was nearly noon—for Vance worked or read until all hours, and was a late riser—and the sun, beating down from a clear blue sky, cast a mantle of introspective lethargy over the city. Vance sprawled in an easy chair, his breakfast on a low table beside him, gazing with cynical, regretful eyes down at the tree-tops in the rear yard.

For years I had been Vance's friend and legal adviser—a kind of monetary steward and agent-companion. I had quitted my father's law firm of Van Dine, Davis & Van Dine to devote myself wholly to his interests—a post I found far more congenial than that of general attorney in a stuffy office—and though my own bachelor quarters were in a hotel on the West Side, I spent most of my time at Vance's apartment.

I had arrived early that morning, long before Vance was up, and, having gone over the first-of-the-month accounts, now sat smoking my pipe idly as he breakfasted.

"Y' know, Van," he said to me, in his emotional drawl, "the prospect of spring and summer in New York is neither excitin' nor romantic. It's going to be a beastly bore. But it'll be less annoyin' than travelin' in Europe with the tourists jostlin' one at every turn. . . . It's very distressin'."

Little did he suspect what the next few weeks held in store for him. Had he known I doubt if even the prospect of an old pre-war spring in Paris would have taken him away; for his insatiable mind liked nothing better than a complicated problem; and even as he spoke to me that morning the gods that presided over his destiny were preparing for him a strange and fascinating enigma—one which was to stir the nation deeply and add a new and terrible chapter to the annals of crime.

Vance had scarcely poured his second cup of coffee when Currie, his old English butler and general factotum, appeared at the French doors bearing a portable telephone.

"It's Mr. Markham, sir," the old man said apologetically. "As he seemed rather urgent, I took the liberty of informing him you were in." He plugged the telephone into a baseboard switch, and set the instrument on the breakfast table.

"Quite right," Currie. Vance murmured, taking off the receiver. "Anything to break this damned monotony." Then he spoke to Markham. "I say, old man, don't you ever sleep? I'm in the midst of an omelette aux fines herbes. Will you join me? Or do you merely crave the music of my voice—?"

He broke off abruptly, and the bantering look on his lean features disappeared. Vance was a marked Nordic type, with a long, sharply chiselled face; gray, wide-set eyes; a narrow aquiline nose; and a straight oval chin. His mouth, too, was firm and clean-cut, but it held a look of cynical cruelty which was more Mediterranean than Nordic. His face was strong and attractive, though not exactly handsome. It was the face of a thinker and reclusive; and its very severity—at once statuesque and introspective—acted as barrier between him and his fellows.

Though he was immobile by nature and sedulously schooled in the repression of his emotions, I noticed that, as he listened to Markham on the phone that morning, he could not entirely disguise his eager interest in what was being told him. A slight frown ruffled his brow; and his eyes reflected his inner amazement. From time to time he gave vent to a murmured "Amazing!" or "My word!" or "Most extraordinary!"—his favorite expletives—and when at the end of several minutes he spoke to Markham, a curious excitement marked his manner.

"Oh, by all means!" he said. "I shouldn't miss it for all the lost comedies of Menander. . . . It sounds mad. . . . I'll don fitting raiment immediately. . . . Au revoir."

Replacing the receiver, he rang for Currie. "My gray tweeds," he ordered. "A sombre tie, and my black Homberg hat." Then he returned to his omelette with a preoccupied air.

After a few moments he looked at me quizzically. "What might you know of archery, Van?" he asked. "I knew nothing of archery, save that it consisted of shooting arrows at targets, and I confessed as much."

"You're not exactly revealin', don't y' know," he lighted one of his Regie cigarettes indolently. "However, we're in for a little flutter of toxophily, it seems I'm no leading authority on the subject myself, but I did a bit of potting with the bow at Oxford. It's not a passionately excitin' pastime—much duller than golf and fully as complicated." He smoked a while dreamily. "I say, Van; fetch me Doctor Elmer's tincture on archery from the library—there's a good chap."

FOREST LOVE

By Hazel Livingston
Thrilling Story of Romance of Modern Girl

CHAPTER 56.
"HOW are you, Decatur?" Well... looking fine!" There was Jack MacKimmons, and at his heels, Helen... "Oh, Mr. Decatur, I was so sorry to hear you were injured... I told Jack, I couldn't have felt worse if it was a brother... but you're looking fine, except, of course, those bandages do give you a kind of... well, a funny look... Jack! don't fight so! Sit down, honey. Mr. Decatur, won't care if you sit on the bed. These hospital rooms! It was the same thing when I was here, when Junior came you know, and I only had one chair unless I asked specially, and it was so... Just a minute, dear, Decatur's trying to get in a word!" "Jack... get Nancy. Bring her back..." "Nancy! But I— you mean—" Roger waved frantically toward the door. "Get her—she'll be gone—she—she—" "Jack MacKimmons! That girl was Mrs. Decatur... I knew I'd seen her somewhere. Did you ever in all your life... Hurry, dear!" MacKimmons got up stupidly. "Sure. Only I won't know where—" "Find her... for God's sake find her. Make her... come back..." Roger sank back on the pillow. The helpless, irrepressible tears of weakness sprang to his eyes. He turned to the wall again, to hide them. MacKimmons made for the door, and after him went his wife, Helen. It was not hard to find Nancy. They stumbled over her, weeping at the dark turn of the stairs. Helen gave her a handkerchief, and offered a small, pinkish powderpuff. Nancy took them gratefully. One on each side, they escorted her back to the door. She did not look, or seem to care. Jack opened the door with his free hand. They stepped in, as if she were a wound up, walking doll. Then they closed the door. "Well, I must say," Helen said, "that's she changed! To think I was almost afraid of her when she came to see me, she was so stylish! And now... Jack MacKimmons, I never saw such a mess in my life. And there's certainly something very funny about it, because the nurse didn't call her Mrs. Decatur, and I noticed particularly that she wasn't wearing a wedding ring... Jack... you don't think—" "Joke!" "Yes. Don't you see that it was always I who needed you, more than you did me? But I didn't have sense enough to know it. Isn't it funny how you find out things after it's too late? And get things after you've stopped wanting them—" "You mean—" "Oh, everything." She laughed a little wildly. "The family has even got rich. Can you tie that? Isn't that the crowning touch? And you... sitting up, chipper as ever, not needing anything... not even a haircut!" "Nancy!" He sat bolt upright in bed. "After me, coming like a melodramatic fool in the middle of the night, picturing myself making mustard plasters in the cabin... and all the time... and all the time... Roger! You do want me? You do—" For he had held out his arms, his poor bandaged face aghast, and she had sunk on her knees beside the bed and laid her wet face on his flannellette shoulder. "Oh, my darling, I need you—I need you so!" And that was the way Nancy Decatur, nee Hollenbeck came back. "Of course it was a silly, school-girl prank and her papa and I are very angry!" Mama told her friends. She was going out again, now that there was a car, and new clothes, and the house was fixed over. "But it is romantic!" "Yes, my young girl married a ranger. Lives right up in the mountains," papa told the men from the bank when they called. "Great big, six footer. Wonderful shot. My idea of a real he-man. Not that my oldest girl didn't do well for herself, too. Married that young millionaire, Matthew Tully, you know. Well... it's nice to think you brought them up well and lived to see them happily married!" And over the back fence, newly painted green, Grandma Hollenbeck told the village's cook, "No, I won't be visiting the girls for a while. Seems like somebody ought to be home with Peter, now that Kitty's so popular in society. We're going to visit the old fields together if he's well enough next spring, and after that maybe I'll go visit the girls. Seems like I might be of more use then. I always say, that's one thing an old lady can always do, even if she isn't much account other ways. She can always take care of the babies, can't she?" LOST 27 YEARS KIN REUNITED Son, Spanish War Veteran, Finds Mother Through Advertisement.

By International News Service. LUBBOCK, Texas—Separated and lost to each other for 27 years during which each thought the other was dead, Mrs. Maggie Berry, 75, and her son, T. E. Bush, 53, have at last been reunited here. Neither recognized the other when they met.

In 1902 young Tom Bush left his home to fight in the Spanish-American war, and when he returned to his Hill county home was unable to find his mother. Later he saw a story in a newspaper which led him to believe she was dead. She thought he had been killed in battle. A recent advertisement which contained the mother's name came into the hands of Bush and led to the reunion.

BALLOT ON WAR, IDEA OF ENVOY

People Should Have The Right To Vote On Conflict Says Houghton.

By International News Service. INDIANAPOLIS—War should be declared only after a vote of all the people, Alanson B. Houghton, former United States ambassador to Germany, and to England, said here.

"Our problem is to inquire as to the power of governments to declare war," Houghton said. "Why not put the power to declare war directly into the hands of the masses themselves? People capable of managing domestic affairs should be able to determine foreign relations, which I know by experience are merely an extension of domestic affairs. The power to declare war is the highest act of sovereignty."

BIG BILL WON'T ACT IN LONDON

Tilden, of "I'm Wise" Cast, Says Metropolis Will Not See Play.

By International News Service. LONDON—Despite much advance publicity, "Big Bill" Tilden, famous American tennis star, is not to appear on the stage of a London theater this winter.

"I'm Wise," the play in which Tilden was to have made his London debut, has been on a four weeks' tour of the English provinces. It is understood that the producers feel that, although the show has met with some success, it would not meet with the approval of more sophisticated London audiences.

"As far as I know, the show will not be put on in London," Tilden said. His plans for the future are uncertain.

When the Second Battalion of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders of Scotland marched through Shanghai, China, recently, it was the first time a kilted regiment was seen in the city.

FRANCE BOOSTS SPORT PROGRAM

Premier Tardieu Recommends Outlay Of $1,200,000 For New Fields.

PARIS—If training counts France is due to rise in the world of sport.

Premier Andre Tardieu has just recommended $1,200,000 for new athletic fields and gymnasiums that will be built throughout the country.

Sport experts hail this appropriation as the greatest impetus that has been given both indoor and outdoor games since the war.

Heretofore, it is asserted, the majority of active youths could only play soccer in vacant lots while even tennis was a game only for the well-to-do class.

There is also solace in the budgetary requirements for these who merely like to take the air in that parliament will be asked to approve an $8,000,000 fund for good roads.

MOVIE COLONY SCORNS PARIS STYLE EDICTS

Film Center Refuses To Lower Skirt
Line.

SEEKS FREEDOM

Declare Knee Length
Dresses Here
To Stay.

HOLLYWOOD. — Hollywood makes its formal declaration of independence from Parisian style tyranny. The film center refuses, point blank and without equivocation, to lower its skirt line. That is, the feminine part of Hollywood refuses. At any rate, many of the prominent actresses, including Clara Bow, Nancy Carroll, Mary Brian, Fay Wray, Helen Kane and Natalie Moorhead, have sworn together that come what may, they will not be browbeaten by the French style dictators into dropping the hemlines for their street costumes. As for evening gowns—that is different—they have always been fond of long evening gowns. Travis Branton, stylist for Paramount Studios, has organized the bakers at French style dictation. "We prophesy that ninety per cent of the women of the country will continue to wear the youthful knee-length skirts," Miss Branton declared in a broadside. "And why shouldn't we? Are they not much more graceful than these droopy, ankle length day frocks Paris is trying to bring back? We are for freedom and youthfulness. Now that the prejudice against them has worn off, the knee length skirt wins the approval of everybody. They are more comfortable, natural, and graceful, and they are here to stay. Because a race driver must be able to distinguish colors as he flashes by them at a hundred-mile-an-hour clip, Richard Arlen is practicing daily with Harry Hartz, famous racer, for a racing driver role in his next picture. Hartz, who is technical advisor for the film, will insist Arlen pass color tests before he takes the wheel of a racing car. Disaster may follow, Hartz points out, if a driver does not recognize the flag waved at him from the pits. A red flag is used to start, and means "all clear." A white banner with a black square in the center tells a driver to pull over to let another pass him. A yellow flag means danger, and a black and white checkered flag indicates the race is finished. Probably ninety per cent of America's hundred million or so has imitated Moran and Mack at one time or another, with their famous "Two Black Crows" conversation about the early bird and the worm. But eight year old Mitzl Green, of Brighton Beach, New York did her imitation so well that she has been signed by Paramount, sponsors of Moran and Mack in their film work. Mitzl is the first child to be placed under contract by Paramount. Growing-hair combs are Paris' latest.

THIEVES STEAL INDIAN CHIEF

Wooden Warrior Disappears From Pedestal Before Indiana
Cigar Store.

By International News Service. MONTICELLO, Ind. — Big Chief Smoke-em-Up, a familiar figure here for 28 years, has disappeared. The "Chief" was one of the few wooden signs left in Indiana. Recently thieves unscrewed the warrior from his pedestal and departed with him. The sign cost $225 three decades ago, but is said to be worth nearly $1,000 now to collectors of early Americana.

FILM SETTINGS ARE DESIGNED BY ARCHITECTS

Effectiveness Achieved
By Studio Art Supervisors.

CREATE MODELS
And Director Can See
How Real Thing
Will Look.

By International News Service.
HOLLYWOOD—It might not be a bad idea to plan your home, or to lay out your city, the way studio art supervisors plan film settings.

For they find out what is wanted—often this involves careful research in libraries—and then supply their draftsmen with the details. The draftsmen make their drawings.

Then, a carpenter is put to work on the setting, and he makes a miniature model on a 1-4 inch to the foot scale, of the thing. If it is a village scene, a small dried twig from a nearby shrub may serve as a tree. Celluloid will be the windows, with India ink case-mats.

Then the director can see how it will look in the real thing. He visualizes each scene, studies the camera angles, the lighting effects. He has the twig tree moved a trifle. The front porch of the house is moved a little to one side. Then the setting is approved, and the specifications for the big model are made from the small.

In this way, alterations are made on the small set so that there is no great expense involved in changing the real set. And you know what it is going to look like before you begin.

The race of film producers has raised its opinion of public taste several degrees as the result of the interest shown here in "Disraeli," a strictly historical "highbrow" play, with George Arliss in the role of the famous English statesman. Some of the executives are even going so far as to predict that more historical dramas, with artistic leanings, will follow. It had been generally conceded that the public cared more for "hey hey" stuff than subtle drama.

It's tough, but the New York stage people who came here to work in talking pictures have to go to work at the studios in the middle of the night... 9 o'clock in the morning.

Playing nights with stage shows, and sleeping all morning, they got into such a state that 9 o'clock, regular studio working time, seems like midnight to them.

"I come on the set at 9, all right, but I don't really wake up until noon," Polly Walker, one of them, says.

HOSPITAL DOCTORS ADVISE QUICK WAY TO END COLDS

Many Here Use Pleasant Way
at Home to End Head Colds
Coughs, Chest Colds

By choosing a method that not only removes congestion but helps restore the breathing passages to a strong, healthy condition, P. C. Adams—like hundreds of East Liverpool people—has found the quickest and surest way to get rid of a disagreeable cold.

Mr. Adams had neglected his cold, hoping each day it would "cure itself." Instead it got worse, spreading down into his chest. Then he sought advice from the clinic, where doctors gave him double doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. In a few hours he felt gradually relieved, and that night he could breathe freely through both nostrils and coughed very little. The next morning he felt like a different person—rid of the "feverish, grippy" feeling—and in another day or so, doctors report, he was completely free from the cold.

Note: See other cases being reported daily in this paper—all certified by the attending physician.

Ayer's Pectoral was hospital certified as the best of different widely used methods tested for head colds, coughs and chest colds because it gave the quickest, surest relief—with absolute safety. It is now featured by all leading druggists.
